A surprise birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Payne on Wednesday evening. Their numerous friends assembled and passed a pleasant evening at cards. Musical selections on the gramophone and piano were also enjoyed. About twelve o'clock the gathering broke up all wishing Mr. Payne many happy returns of the day.

The 5.30 express north on Wednesday evening hit and instantly killed a farmer named Miller residing between Didsbury and Olds. The unfortunate man was about to cross the track in front of the fast approaching train when his horses balked at the edge of the crossing. The engineer thinking the man had stopped his team continued at full speed. The horses became unmanageable and bolted across the track just clearing the engine. The pilot hit the vehicle throwing Miller in front of the train instantly killing him. The man's head and face was mangled beyond recognition.

Masquerade Ball

The Masquerade Ball held in the Nesbit school last Friday night was a complete success. The attendance was very large and the number of masks worn greatly exceeded all expectations. Some very original costumes were in evidence. The prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. C. Latimer, the former representing a "Hobo" while the latter characterized a "Ballet Girl."

Mrs. Latimer's costume was made of pink crepe paper with large picture hat tastefully trimmed to match. Other costumes worn by the ladies worthy of notice were: "Highland Lassie", "News Paper Girl", "Night, Queen of Diamonds", "Queen of Clubs", "Red Wing" and "The Witch of Plum Hollow".

The music for the evening was very good.

Won a Prize

Mr. R. Billington returned on Saturday from Calgary where he attended a convention of the Managers of the Crown Lumber Co. The session was held on Wednesday in the Assembly room of the Y. M. C. A. addresses being delivered by the Head Officials of the Company on "Running their Yards", "Ordering Material", "Credit Collections" and "Legal Matters". In the evening a Banquet was held in the Grover Cafe where about eighty plates were laid. On this occasion prizes were awarded the winners who had taken part in the competitions held by the company from time to time. Mr. Billington won a cash prize of $25.00 for the best collections in the credit department. After the banquet a theatre party was given to the visitors.

Honored an Old Pioneer

On Tuesday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher was the scene of a pleasant surprise birthday party when their many friends assembled and presented them with a handsome Morris chair. Tuesday Mr. Fletcher entered his 70th year hale and hearty, enjoying perfect health and seeming fit to weather the storms of this life for many years to come. The respect and esteem which is accorded Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher by the residents of the whole district, young and old, was evidenced by the number who came to their home; nearly eighty people assembling to extend to them their congratulations and best wishes.

The presentation address was made by Mr. H. E. Shenfield one of the oldest settlers in this district. In his address he congratulated on behalf of the assembled company, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher on the good health that they were enjoying. He stated that in the whole district that there probably was no one had so many friends and so few enemies as Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher in fact he knew no one who held towards them anything but their good will and deepest friendship. Between Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher and the old pioneers of this district there is a bond of friendship which has been welded hard and fast by the hard knocks of adversity which all experienced in the early days. Twenty three years ago the Fletcher home was established near Bowden and with its establishment there has ever been extended from its doors true hospitality and unselfishness. Many a weary and disheartened traveller made his way to its doors always finding rest and a hearty welcome from the hospitable inmates and sharing equally what there was to eat. In times of sickness in the community Mrs. Fletcher was always to be found at the bedside of the afflicted and he felt safe in saying that many people owed their lives to her unselfish care and attention.

As the country developed and the settlers came times became better and all were glad to know that Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher were also prospering.

By the presentation of the chair the speaker and the assembled friends wished to express to Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher their high esteem and assure them that the many kindnesses and true neighborly actions which had always characterized their life in Bowden were not forgotten and were still remembered with the highest appreciation.

In a few short words Mr. Fletcher expressed his thanks and assured all that he and Mrs. Fletcher felt happy in the knowledge that they had made so many friends.

Mr. R. McCue another old-timer then said that he had known Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher for the past 20 years living as a neighbor to them and ever enjoying their friendship. Mr. Fletcher he said ever worked for the advancement of the community. Thru his efforts the first Anglican church was established in Bowden denoting the site and his labor to its building. Mr. McCue closed his remarks by congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher on their present good health.

Amusing incidents and stories of the pioneer days of this district were told by Mr. I. Depencier, R. McCue, Mr. Fletcher, E. W. Shenfield and others, after which supper was served to all.

After supper the guests amused themselves at cards, singing and dancing when the company broke up all wishing Mr. Fletcher many more birthdays and as much future happiness.

Eat What You Like

And What Agrees With You, but Do Not Eat Too Much

Digestion Will be Good if You Regulate the System With

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY - LIVER PILLS

Overeating is the great cause of liver troubles, biliousness and constipation. The digestive system becomes clogged with poisonous waste matter, the liver fails and then follow kidney disorders of the most painful and fatal form, such as rheumatism, Bright's disease and dropsy.

The beginning is almost invariably with the liver and should be overcome by the prompt use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills before serious disease is developed.

An occasional dose of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills when the liver gets sluggish and the bowels constipated will keep the whole digestive system in healthy working order.

Hundreds of thousands of people have found this out by their own experience and would not think of being without this medicine in the house. Others have been restored to health by this treatment after their cases had reached more serious and complicated stages.

There does not seem to be any medicine obtainable which is so successful in awakening the action of both liver and kidneys as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Merit alone can account for their enormous sales.

A MODERN MEDICINE FOR THE BABY

What mother cannot remember the times of her childhood when the castor oil bottle was brought into use—the dread with which she looked forward to a dose of it—the fight she put up when forced to take it. Surely all mothers will be glad to spare their little ones this discomfort—this dread. Modern science has banished the bad smelling, evil-tasting, griping castor oil and given in its place a modern remedy—a remedy pleasant to take, mild, though thorough in action, absolutely harmless and something the little one won't dread. That medicine is Baby's Own Tablets—the only medicine used by thousands of mothers of little ones—the medicine that has forced castor oil and "soothing" syrups out of the home and has taken their place to bring health to baby and joy to the parents. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Hot Stuff

Jim Jimison was a hard drinker up Ithaca way. One evening Jim stopped at the tavern for a dram, tossed it off and departed calmly; but after he was gone the tavern-keeper discovered that in place of applejack, he had given him a drink out of the sulphuric acid bottle that was kept to clean the verdigris off the black taps. The tavern-keeper couldn't sleep that night, but the next morning to his unspeakable relief, Jim dropped in for another dram before breakfast, apparently none the worse for his dose of poison. "Jim," said the tavern-keeper, "what did you think of that applejack I sold you last night?"

"Oh, it was fine stuff," said Jim; "good warm'n' stuff. It only had one fault. Every time I coughed it set my whiskers afire."

French Soldiers' New Helmet.

M. Detaille has reported to the French War Office on the new "casque" for the infantry. He has reverted to a modification of the 15th century helmet, known as the "Bourguignotte." If the new equipment is adopted the French infantryman will wear in war a helmet of steel with a ridge of bronze over the round of the head. The front and back will be identical, so that it can be worn either way. At each side is a head of a lion in bronze to fix the ends of the chin strap, and on the left side a tricolor cockade is used as an ornament.

The French authorities have not observed that one of the first things that our men did in South Africa was to lose their heavy helmets and obtain, in the mysterious way soldiers do these things, a soft felt hat or a cap. If, according to Gilbert, "that man is but an ass who fights in a cuirass," equally foolish is the soldier of to-day who goes marching in a steel helmet weighing a couple of pounds.—London Chronicle.

In South America "Stand to your guns," yelled the American, who was watching the fight. "You fellows don't fight very hard for your native land."

"Pardon, senor," explained the combatant, "but we are doing this for a moving picture concern."

THIS INCUBATOR SUPPLIES MOST OF THE EXPERIENCE NECESSARY FOR BEGINNERS IN POULTRY RAISING—

After careful investigation, extending over a couple of years, we have chosen the Model Incubator as the one best suited to our customers' needs. We have chosen it because it is simple and reliable, and because thousands of these incubators are bringing profit and success to present users. The Model Incubator is designed and made by men who know the conditions under which an incubator will be used by the amateur poultry raiser. And because they know these conditions so well, and have so much practical experience to guide them, they have been able to make an incubator that gives splendid results in the hands of inexperienced people. Whatever information the purchaser of an incubator needs is fully explained in the book of directions. With this book as a guide any careful person can depend on getting good hatches of healthy chicks.

That the West offers a good opening for profitable poultry raising, cannot be denied. The interest that is being taken in this subject is shown by the number of inquiries we receive. Undoubtedly many people will add to their incomes this year through poultry raising. To those who wish an economical start we offer a simple and reliable incubator that has a reputation for producing results. Further information may be had by writing to Dept. 41.

Canadian School of Musketry

An announcement has recently been made from Militia Headquarters at Ottawa relative to the attendance of school teachers at the Canadian School of Musketry. The attention of teachers is called to the following extracts from the order which supersedes the conditions formerly in force:

A School teachers who have attended a school of Military Instruction and obtained instructors' certificate will be admitted to the courses of the Canadian School of Musketry. In considering applications from school teachers for admission to those courses preference will be given to those engaged in educational institutions having organized cadet corps.

B Applications for admission will be forwarded in the usual manner through the Officer Commanding Division or District and will give the name of the college or school in which he is connected.

Further particulars relative to this matter may be obtained from Colonel Cruikshank, D. O. C., Calgary.

Good Results Are Obtained

The work for neglected children in the Province of Alberta has been carried on under the supervision of the Honourable the Attorney General since 1909. The Act upon which the work in Alberta was modeled is the same Act which has been used so successfully in Ontario. A number of changes were made to meet the conditions of the West and the branch of the Attorney General's Department, known as the Department of Neglected Children, was entrusted with the enforcement of that Act.

The Act provides for the removing of children from conditions of neglect; the placing of them in foster homes from where reports of their condition and progress are required from time to time. Of the dependent children dealt with in the past five years, some 553, practically all have been well placed and are making good records. The best homes in the country are open for children who require the opportunities of good homes and there is no difficulty as far as Alberta is concerned, in finding homes for all the children who have come to the care of the Dept.

In the matter of delinquency some 616 cases have been handled. Of this number the majority are children coming from average homes, and the idea of the reformatory has been kept entirely in the background. Probation has been used with great success and the idea impressed upon the child's mind that he is a good citizen and has in him the makings of a good man; that he has made a mistake through foolishness, with a result that very few boys have been sent to the reform school from the Province of Alberta during the past three years.

One of the needs of the Department is that there should be a group of three or four interested men and women in every community who would act in the capacity of volunteer agents of the Department, and who would make it their business to report conditions of neglect or cruelty and who would act in the capacity of the big brother or sister to the child who is beginning to go wrong and thus prevent a criminal being developed by the turning of the stream into the right channel.

Individuals who would be willing to co operate in a work of this kind are requested to write the Superintendent of Neglected Children at Edmonton. The need is apparent to any, even in the smallest communities, who have given the matter of the child and its relationship to society any consideration.

"Why, deacon, what do you mean?" asked Sister Henderson.

"I observed that on your sideboard you have several cut glass decanters and that each of them is half filled with what appears to be ardent spirits."

"Well, now, deacon, it isn't anything of the kind. The bottles looked so pretty on the sideboard that I just filled them half way with some flower stain and furniture polish, just for appearance."

"That's why I am cautioning you, Sister," replied the deacon. "Feeling a trifle weak and faint, I helped myself to a dose from the big bottle in the middle."

Prince Christian's Diet

Prince Christian, who has just reached his 81st birthday, is a remarkably hale and fine looking veteran and is well known to London crowds. His position as personal aide-de-camp to the king brings him out whenever there is a public ceremony. He is still a great huntsman, regularly following Mr. Garth's hounds, and gossip says that his favorite repast in the hunting field is cold plum pudding, a delicacy which dietetic authorities say contains all the essentials of food.

He came over from Schleswig-Holstein to marry princess Helena in 1866. The ubiquitous Bishop Wilberforce (Soapy Sam), who was present at the wedding feast recorded: "He's dull, but seems very good." The great grief of his life was the loss of his soldier son, Prince Victor Christian.

"The respectable portion of the male sex in England may be divided into two classes, according to its method and manner of complete immersion in water," says Arnold Bennett in "A Great Man." "One class, the more dashing, dashes into a cold tub every morning. Another, the more cleanly, sedately takes a warm bath every Saturday night. There can be no doubt that the former class lends tone and distinction to the country, but the latter is the nation's backbone."

Paper can be manufactured out of almost anything that can be pounded into pulp. Over fifty kinds of bark are said to be used, also banana skins, bean stalks, pea stocks, coconut fibre, straw, sea and fresh water weeds, and many kinds of grass are all applicable.

CHAPTER X Haunted

Harry's eyes followed those of Lillas just in time to behold the sigh which had startled her.

A man's face was pressed against the glass. It was an evil-looking, sinister face, pallid and unwholesome in colour, under a shock head of red hair. Bushy-red eyebrows overhung deep-set eyes which squinted hideously, and a hanging, half opened mouth revealed two rows of blackened teeth above a stubbly red beard.

Harry knew the man in a moment. Crayborne could not possess two such monsters. It was the slouching round-backed rough who had attacked Lady Anne in the little wood on the previous evening.

He sprang from his seat, flung open the window and leaped out; but, although his movements were extraordinarily quick, he could see no trace of the red-headed tramp. He must have leaped the low wall enclosing the grass plot, Harry decided, for he certainly had not had time to go out by the gate.

Returning to the house in disappointment at his inability to punish the fellow, Harry met the farmer's wife in the wide, red-tiled entrance hall, and described to her the man who had alarmed Miss Morgan.

"Oh, that is soft Sammy!" she explained. "Bless you, sir, there's no harm in him. Even the policeman respects Sammy, for it was through his evidence at the inquest seven years ago that we knew all about Jimmy Collet's death on the bridge here. Mr. Warne, he wanted to provide for Sammy, but Sammy likes wandering and wouldn't be held down to anything. So Mr. Warne gives him a few shillings now and again, and so does Lady Anne. He's not much more than a natural, same as one sees in most villages."

"He's cunning enough and brutal enough to try and frighten ladies," Harry exclaimed indignantly. "An evil-looking beast! Only last night I caught him threatening Lady Anne Daubeney."

Mrs. Anning smiled and shook her head with evident unbelief.

"It would take more than soft Sammy to frighten Lady Anne," she said. "Why, my children play with him by the hour. He keeps them quieter nor anybody. And little Teddy Jessop at the Abbey Lodge, he downright loves his 'ugly Sammy,' as he calls him."

"Mrs. Anning," Harry said. "These half-idiotic people whom people get used to and suppose harmless, are no more harmless than sleeping vipers. They have only to be roused at the right moment to be extremely dangerous."

"No doubt, sir," the farmer's wife agreed with gentle obstinacy. "But not poor Sammy."

Her husband's voice calling from the kitchen checked her discourse. "He accepted the very moderate sum she had fixed in payment for the breakfasts, and disappeared to attend to John Anning's summons. But as Lillas and Harry were about to leave the parlor, she met them in the hall, looking flushed and perturbed."

"Good-bye, Mrs. Anning. I am very much obliged to you," Lillas said. "You live in a lovely old house. I should like to come and sketch it. If I may, I have never seen it before. I suppose it is very, very old?"

"Oh, hundreds of years, I've heard say. It used to be the great house of the district in the old days when the Clavels lived here."

Lillas started. "Did those terrible Clavels ever live here?" she asked in altered voice. "If I had known that I don't think I could have eaten my breakfast."

"Now, isn't that prejudice?" Harry put in suddenly. "What harm have the Clavels done you?"

She faced him in the hall with flashing eyes.

"They have done all the harm they could to my family," she retorted hotly. "I am the niece of Denzil Warne."

He could have capped her statement by another still more alarming; but he held his peace, wondering how in the world so near a relative of a proud and wealthy landed proprietor came to be earning a bare living in a touring company in America.

But Mrs. Anning took the news with more evident interest.

"You are never Miss Edith's daughter, her that ran away with her singing master, Mr. Owen Morgan, when she was eighteen?" she cried. "Deary me! I ought to have known you, for you do favor your mother, Miss. And she was a sweet, pretty lady. Will you tell her you've met her married maid Fanny, that's been married to Anning the coachman at Lyllington for fifteen years now? To think that you should be my young mistress's daughter!"

Lillas threw her arms around Mrs. Annings partly form.

"Are you Fanny?" she exclaimed, tears springing to her eyes and beginning to roll down her cheeks. "My mother has told me about you often."

THE BEST WAY TO KEEP THE HANDS CLEAN.

Women have to do dirty work on the farm as well as the men. Cleaning lamps, blacking stoves, paring potatoes, scrubbing floors and milking, are all hard on the hands.

The thousands who are using SNAP find it exactly what women need, and would not be without a can.

It is a wonderful hand cleaner, instantly removes dirt, stains and odor without much rubbing, and keeps the hands smooth and free of chaps. It is healing and antiseptic. 15c. a can. 114

You were the last real maid she ever had, Fanny. We have been very poor, my mother and I. But I must not talk of that now. My father died in Italy eight years ago, and my mother has been dead more than a year. Dear old Fanny! You used to brush my mother's hair every night, did you not? Such lovely long, soft hair she had. But oh, Fanny, how could you come to marry a servant of the Clavels and live in a place of theirs?"

Mrs. Anning was weeping noisily by this time and could only murmur, as she wiped her eyes, that John was a "good sort." Harry, who felt that men were rather out of the picture in this emotional scene, was moving quietly out of the house door to wait outside when Mrs. Anning called after him.

"Talking of my husband, sir," she said, "if I may stop you, John said I was to tell you, being a stranger, that sometimes we take lodgers in the farm for the summer months. It's true we did have a family for two summers, but I can't think what possessed him to call me back to tell you. No doubt you have settled your lodgings if you intend to stay in Crayborne."

"On the contrary, I am very much obliged to Mr. Anning and to you. I slept last night at the 'Royal Hotel,' but I don't want to stay there, and if you will allow me I will bring over my bag to your place this afternoon."

"Shall you be staying in Crayborne long?" asked Lillas with some eagerness.

"A few weeks probably. I like the place immensely."

"I'd sooner you didn't see your room until we've given it a dusting," observed Mrs. Anning. "But it's a nice large one on the sunny side, with a fine view of fields and hills and Loders Abbey woods. At what time may we expect you, sir?"

"I am going for a long ramble this afternoon. I will send over my valise and come in myself later. Some time before seven o'clock you may expect me, in time for dinner, or supper, as I suppose it is called in the country."

He walked out by the side of Lillas Morgan, and Mrs. Anning stood watching them from the stone-lined porch, shading her eyes from the sun with her hand.

The sight of them, as they crossed the grass plot, with Harry's tall athletic figure bending as he listened to the slender little maiden at his side, took Fanny's thoughts back to the old days at Vale House, when she had been the confidant of her young mistress over her secret love affair with the handsome Welsh singing master at Seacombe.

She sighed a little, and smiled with tears in her eyes as she recalled it. She was turning into the house again, when a discordant laugh, the mirthless laugh of the half-witted, smote her ears, and she beheld, peering out of the hall, the ill-favored face of Sammy the natural.

"An evil-lookin' beast a called me, the fool, the nogger head!" he muttered in harsh, guttural tones. "An' his vooty girl that got daddered when I looked at en! Sammy'll be even with en, an' I'll make en bicker!"

Ignoring Sammy's threat, which in any case they would not have understood, Harry and Lillas parted with some reluctance at the farm gates, near which Denzil Warne's groom, who had at length come up on his young mistress' tracks, was waiting to conduct her home.

At the "Royal Hotel," Harry had to explain when he entered it at eleven o'clock, that he had already breakfasted, and that he should be leaving after lunch, and would wish his valise to be taken to the Manor House Farm.

Mrs. Gutenberg dropped a glass she was wiping, in horror at his words. "Mercy on us, sir!" she exclaimed. "You can't stay at the Manor Farm! It is haunted."

The "Real Henry Clay"

One winter morning Henry Clay found himself in need of money, went to the Riggs Bank and asked for a loan of $250 on his personal note. He was told while his credit was perfectly good, it was the inflexible rule of the bank to require an endorser. The great statesman hunted up Daniel Webster and asked him to endorse the note.

"With pleasure," said Webster. "But I need some money myself. Why not make your note for $500, and you and I will split it?"

This they did. And to-day the note is in the Riggs Bank—unpaid.

The Indian maharajah does not sit down to breakfast covered with diamonds and rubies, and except on State occasions is often conspicuous for the extreme simplicity of his dress. He does not build palaces by the dozen, or order motor cars by the score. They do not, as a rule, marry with ardent enthusiasm at frequent intervals, though there are exceptions. They mingle with their people far more freely than the minor European princes—India Under Curzon and After.

IN THE CAIRO BAZAARS

Pictureque Vendors in a Labyrinth of Treasures.

The bazaars of Cairo are a network of narrow lanes, turning and crossing one another in a so bewildering manner that the stranger would lose his way in them inside of five minutes walking. "The only reminder of our own world," writes an English visitor in the Queen, "is the tourist. Even he (and she) has a native dragoman dressed in the beautiful silks of the country."

It is amazing what quantities of their wares these men of the bazaars get into the small space at their disposal. And they are so keen on their business. They bargain with such zest.

"There are booths of every sort and description, from those where one sees priceless silk carpets from Persia to those where are heaped the merest trifles, and seated in the middle of each booth (when not engaged in bargaining or ingratiating himself to possible buyers) sits the owner, murmuring the attributes of Allah to his amber beads or smoking a cigarette in contemplative silence."

"One lovely part to wander in is the brass bazaar. It seems one can get everything conceivable in lovely carved brass, while some are beautifully inlaid with silver. This is a very choice bazaar, and one is served with coffee and Turkish delight."

"In one part they make the queerest things—scenes done in rough applique work on coarse stuff. There they sit tailorwise on the floor of their stalls, stitching away with the greatest diligence, and when anyone stops to look, lauding up their wares to the skies. They are very good natured in the way they will show their wares, even though you tell them you have no intention of buying. Of course, they do it in the hope that you may be tempted to buy something. But they are certainly patient. It is of course one of their famous characteristics in business—enormous patience."

"Then there are the stalls of little trifles, quaint and charming and most fascinating, though of little value. There is a tiny model of a mummy case about half an inch long, which in spite of its smallness opens, and holds inside a funny little doll, supposed to be the model of a mummy. And here is Moses in the bullrushes, and the lotus flower on every conceivable thing—hatpins, brooches, charms and so on."

"The precious stone stall, with its loose stones of all sorts, is a delight to find in which to spend some time, poking about and enjoying a good look at them all. If one can afford it, it is a good plan to take plenty of money to the bazaars, but if, on the other hand, one has to restrict the amount to be spent, it is as well to empty all extra cash out of one's purse, or the temptation will certainly be too great, and the extra will melt away. Everything always seems 'such a bargain,' and far too good to miss; but if the money is safely left behind, there is time to cool down."

Oil Fuel in the Congo.

Preparations are being made for supplying the Congo Railway and the various steamboats on the Congo River and its tributaries with petroleum for fuel, in spite of the fact that an almost unbroken forest covers the hundreds of thousands of square miles of this territory. A company is laying a pipe line along the old Congo Railway from Matadi to Leopoldville, and storage tanks have already been erected. The change of the locomotives to oil burners has begun.—Railway Age Gazette.

Subtle Logic.

Bridget and Pat were seated in a hammock, reading an article on "The Law of Compensation."

"Just fancy!" exclaimed Bridget, "according to this, when a man loses an eye, he is entitled to a new one. I have lost my eye, and I am entitled to a new one. I have lost my eye, and I am entitled to a new one. I have lost my eye, and I am entitled to a new one."

"Sure, an' it's quite true," interrupted Pat. "O'iv'e noticed it myself. When a man has one leg shorter than the other, begorra the other's longer."

An English paper tells of an experiment in collective housekeeping in what is known as Brent Garden Village. The dwelling houses contain all improvements except a kitchen. Meals for everybody are cooked at a central hall, and may be either eaten there or sent home. A four-course dinner cost only one shilling and six pence. Servants are supplied, when needed, from the central hall at a cost of about ten cents an hour.

A BLOOD MEDICINE WITHOUT ALCOHOL.

Recently it has been definitely proven by experiments on animals that alcohol lowers the germicidal power of the body and that alcohol paralyzes the white corpuscles of the blood and renders them unable to take up and destroy disease germs. Disease germs cause the death of over one-half of the human race.

A blood medicine, made entirely without alcohol, which is a pure glyceric extract of roots, such as Bloodroot, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Mandrake and Stone root, has been extensively sold by druggists for the past forty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and a physician of large experience and practice, was the first to make up an ALTERNATIVE EXTRACT of roots, without a particle of alcohol or narcotic.

"It is with the greatest of pleasure, that I write to let you know of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicines and self-treatment at home," writes Mrs. Wm. Hayes, of Lady Smith, B. C. "I suffered for three years from a running sore. Consulted four doctors but they failed to mend or give relief. Finally I was told I was in consumption and would have to consult a specialist concerning my ear, that the dead bone must be cut out before the wound would heal. A kind friend advised me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and after seven months' use of the treatment the sore is healed, and I enjoy better health than I ever did. I dressed the wound with Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve and took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' for my troubles. I shall always recommend your medicines."

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

TERMINAL ELEVATOR TO BE ACQUIRED BY GOVERNMENT

Appropriations Will be Made to Carry Out a Policy of Government Owned Elevators at Fort William—May Extend Policy to Other Points

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. George E. Foster, Minister of trade and commerce, made the definite announcement in the House that there would be a sum in the appropriations to carry out a policy of government owned elevators at Fort William. Just what the amount would be he could not at present state. He also said that at present it was not the intention to extend the principle beyond the head of the lakes, although the day might come when elevators may be built or required at Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Hudson Bay and other ports.

It is also understood that the government will establish a sample market with mixing privileges and grading at Winnipeg along the lines of the one in Minneapolis. A study has been made by the government of the Minneapolis plan, and it has no commend itself to the ministers that there is every probability of the adoption of a similar plan for Winnipeg.

Hon. Mr. Foster said in answer to questions as to his policy on the question:

"The government intends to ask parliament for a grant of money to acquire government owned elevators at the present session. I am not now prepared to say what the amount will be, but it is the intention of the government to make an appropriation this year to carry out the purpose of this act. It is not proposed to construct, lease, or operate elevators at any other place than at Fort William. The time may come when this may be extended to Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Hudson Bay and other ports, but I do not want it to be understood that the government proposes to take in charge the building of all elevators at all ports. Some must be left to private and corporate enterprise in the future."

Just before the House rose Hon. Dr. Pugsley asked for a statement of government policy as to terminal elevators. Hon. Mr. Oliver asked concerning the question of government ownership of terminal elevators. Did the minister propose to make a statement upon it? "I will discuss that later," said Mr. Foster.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley objected and said that it should be dealt with now. There was urgent need of elevator accommodation at St. John. Last year the business of that port was $25,000,000, while up to the present time this winter the total was already two millions in excess of that figure. It was essential that some statement from the government as to its intention should be communicated to Parliament at once. Hon. Mr. Foster replied that the act did not contemplate any relief for the situation at St. John. It contemplated only shipments of grain to the great west at the head of the lakes.

"Then the government proposes acquiring the elevators at that point?" asked Hon. Dr. Pugsley.

"That is the principle of this act," replied Hon. Mr. Foster.

"That is not the point," rejoined Hon. Mr. Oliver. "Does the government intend to act upon it?"

"The government does not intend to act upon it," replied Hon. Mr. Foster. "The government intends to ask parliament for a grant of money for this purpose at the present session. I am not now prepared to say what the amount will be, but it is the intention of the government to make an appropriation this year to carry out the purpose of this act. It is not proposed to construct, lease or operate elevators at any other place than at Fort William. The time may come when this will be extended to Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Hudson Bay and other ports, but I do not want it to be understood that the government proposes to take in charge the building of all elevators at all ports. Some must be left to private and corporate enterprise in the future."

"What difference is there," asked Hon. Dr. Pugsley, "between Fort William and other ports mentioned?"

"Because that is a central point," replied Hon. Mr. Foster.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley directed attention to the fact that St. John and Halifax were the points to which all grains by Canadian ports concentrated in the winter months.

"Does the minister propose to make a fuller statement on the question of government ownership at a later phase in the bill?" asked Hon. Mr. Oliver.

"I have made it now," answered Hon. Mr. Foster. Hon. Mr. Oliver replied that if there was no fuller information communicated to the House it would be probable that an amendment would be moved on the third reading.

TO PROTECT THE INVESTOR

Legislation Asked for to Safeguard the Investing Public—Wild-Cat Propositions

Winnipeg, Man.—The real estate department of Winnipeg Once-A-Week comes forward in its current issue in advocacy of a chain of official bureaux to be established through the several provinces and designed for the sole purpose of affording protection to the investing public against the frequently reported confidence games that are being more or less successfully perpetrated by so-called wild-cat subdivision operators. The system advocated would be endowed with full powers for investigation and with unrestricted access to the channels of broadcast publicity. Such officials would make it their business to inquire into the character and methods of subdivision and other investment propositions placed on the market, with a view to furnishing an official endorsement or guarantee of such enterprises as could show intrinsic merit. It is pointed out that Moose Jaw has recently petitioned the Saskatchewan Government for legislation requiring all maps or plats used for advertising purposes to indicate whether new subdivisions are within or without the city. A press despatch from Edmonton, Alta., tells of similar legislation proposed in that Province, a bill having already been introduced by George P. Smith, M. L. A., of Camrose, designed to provide buyers of subdivision real estate with some better assurance than is possible at present that they are not investing real money in "gold bricks" or "blue sky". It is admitted by careful observers that the problem is a serious one for the West and for the East, but the position is taken that Western legislatures can at least make a plain statement of the situation for the benefit of the investing public.

TRADE COMMISSIONERSHIP

Hon. Geo. E. Foster Will Make a Systematic Study of the Question

Ottawa, Ont.—It is understood that as soon as the grain bill is disposed of Hon. George E. Foster intends to take up the question of the reorganization of the Canadian trade commissionerships system. There will be a complete reorganization of the work and a re-allotment of territory. There are no less than five vacant positions which have been held open until the minister of trade and commerce has had time to make a systematic study of the question. The positions vacant are Berlin, Paris, Shanghai, Havana and Vienna. These vacant positions will be filled, while a number of new appointments are expected at strategic trade points. It is the intention of the ministers to make the commissioners more useful to Canadian commerce than in the past. They will act as a sort of Canadian vice-consuls.

IMPROVE EXPERIMENTAL FARMS

C. C. James Discusses Scheme for Agricultural Co-operation

Ottawa, Ont.—C. C. James, who has been appointed by the government to work out a system of agricultural co-operation between the provinces and the Dominion was in Ottawa recently and had a conference with Hon. Martin Burrell when they mapped out the work. Mr. James will commence his duties with the Dominion Government on April 1.

Mr. Burrell is planning a re-organization of the experimental farms of the Dominion with a view to making them more practical and useful. At present many of the farms are not up to a very high standard. It is understood that in supplementary estimates will be placed a considerable sum for improvements to buildings on experimental farms.

BELGIUM INVITES LADIES

Bids for the Third International Congress of Farm Women

Lethbridge, Alta.—The International Congress of Farm Women, which will meet in this city October 21-25 next, has received an invitation from the national committee of Circles of Farm Women of Belgium to hold its third annual convention in Ghent, Belgium, in 1913. If the invitation is accepted it is planned to hold a monster international agricultural exposition during the Congress. As the International Dry-Farming Congress is invited to meet in Budapest, Hungary, in the same year, and as the women's movement is affiliated with the latter organization, there is a possibility of a contest between the two European cities for the big combined meeting.

Past, Present and Future

Regina, Sask.—Mr. J. Kelso, who has been recently delving into local history back to the time when Regina was merely a collection of tents awaiting the coming of the first railway, states that in his judgement this city should undoubtedly pass the 200,000 mark in population during the next ten years. Regina's greatest problem, that of water supply, now appears to be on the point of solution, as engineers' reports, recently submitted, show at least 13,000,000 gallons of good spring water available daily, the only condition being an adequate system for bringing it into the city. Mr. Kelso points out that Victoria in the early days faced this same problem, with results that are well known. In all, Regina now controls seven public utilities: electric light, water works, sewage, street railway, disposal works, street paving and gas plant, the latter being the most recent undertaking.

LARGE EMIGRATION EXPECTED

Not Enough Boats to Take All Who Want to Leave England

London, England.—"All second class and steerage booked up to the end of April" is already the story told by almost all the best known steamship companies, and in some the May sailings have already a good contingent reserve. No wonder the Allans have arranged to take over the 11,000 ton Romanic of the White Star liner rather than risk losing business while their two new 18,000 tonners are building.

From all the signs one can observe Canada will receive an emigration far outnumbering that of any previous year. Indeed, it is not unlikely that the situation Australia faced last year when there were not enough ships to carry the emigrants to the southern continent will be paralleled in the case of Canadian sailings. There are not enough available boats afloat for Canadian passenger traffic, or the Royal line would be following the lead of the Allans, or chartering steamers to cope with the rush expected.

Three things contribute to the expected large emigration movement. First the large number of successful settlers from Great Britain now in Canada proves a lodestone the value of which it is difficult to overestimate. Then the arrival of Arthur Hawkes has given a fillip to emigration work and resulted in renewed activities. Lastly there is the concern of parents here who realize that Great Britain no longer offers opportunities for prosperous careers for their children and that settlement in Canada invites success. Intelligence, not necessity, dictates their emigration, and they are leaving this country in ever increasing numbers.

ASQUITH REPLIES TO CRITICS

Declares That Home Rule Must Precede House of Lords Reform in House

London, England.—The amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, move in the House of Commons was rejected by a vote of 324 to 231. It was alleged that the government had not fulfilled its pledge to reconstruct the House of Lords.

In summing up for the Government Premier Asquith declared that there was no truth in the statements of the Opposition that pledges had been given that the reconstitution of the House of Lords should precede Home Rule. The proper time for that, he said, was not before, but after the settlement of the Irish question. A scheme for reforming the second chamber would be submitted during the lifetime of the present parliament, but an ideal system of representative democratic government would necessitate not only the reconstruction of the House of Lords but an alteration of the whole base of representation in the House of Commons.

AVIATOR TRIES TO CROSS LAKE

Earl Sandt's Machine Turns Turtle and He Walks to Shore

Erie, Ont.—Earl Sandt, a young aviator, the first birdman to fly over the Great Lakes from the United States to Canada, came to grief ten miles out on the lake Northeast Pa., while attempting a return flight to the American shore.

While high in the air and twenty miles east of his course, the engine of his biplane stopped. For a time he glided towards the ice-covered lake, but suddenly the machine turned turtle and he was buried unconscious in the wreckage.

How long he remained in this condition Sandt does not know. When he recovered he was literally saturated with blood from many cuts. Aided by a pocket compass Sandt walked ten miles to the American shore. He was found staggering along the shore by boys who were skating and later carried to a hotel and then a telephone message was sent to this city. Sandt is not seriously injured.

LEGISLATION IN ALBERTA

Next Summer Two Millions Will be Spent on Telephones

Winnipeg, Man.—Hon. A. L. Sifton, while in this city on his way to Ottawa discussed new legislation in the Province of Alberta. He says the next summer will see 2,000,000 spent on telephone lines, 3,000 miles of rural line, 500 miles of new long distance line and 700 miles additional to existing circuits of long distance line being contemplated.

The Government has also arranged for 1,613 miles of new railway lines northwest, northeast and south.

The single tax will be applicable in towns and villages, and laborers will have redress for a long standing grievance. In future delays in getting pay for railway work or threshing will cost the hiring party full time till the case reaches court, the magistrate hearing the case being given power to enforce the payment.

Ottawa Session Over by Easter

Ottawa, Ont.—Unless the Manitoba boundary will precipitate a big fight it is anticipated by the Government that the session will end by Easter. This is the aim of the cabinet and the members of the opposition are quite favorable. The grain bill and the tariff commission bill two of the most contentious measures being now practically disposed, there seems little reason why the session should be prolonged. The budget will be brought down the first week in March. A week's debate should dispose of it.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON IX.—FIRST QUARTER, FOR MARCH 3, 1912.

Text of the Lesson, Mark 1: 14-28. Memory Verses, 17, 17—Golden Text, Matt. ix, 37, 38—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

According to the harmony of the Gospels, it would seem that Jesus returned to where John was preaching, and as he cried on two different days, "Behold the Lamb of God!" two of John's disciples, Andrew and probably John, the brother of James, followed Jesus and spent some time with him one day, after which Andrew found his brother, Simon, and brought him to Jesus, and the inference is that John brought his brother James. Then Jesus went into Galilee to Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter, and called Philip to follow Him. After this Philip brought Nathanael, and thus we see the first six disciples according to John 1, 29-51. They seem to have received several calls before they left all to follow Him fully. The lesson today indicates a call to Andrew and Peter, as they were casting a net into the sea, and to James and John as they were in the ship with their father mending their nets. The account of this incident is found in Matt. iv, 18-22, as well as in our lesson verses from Mark. The incident of Luke v, 1-11, seems to have been wholly different and at a different time. At that time He used Simon's boat as a pulpit and then filled both his boat and that of his partners James and John with fishes. We must ever distinguish between Christians and disciples. A Christian is one who truly receives Jesus Christ as his Saviour and thus becomes a child of God, justified freely by His grace (John 1, 12; Rom. iii, 24; v, 1). There are no degrees in salvation, for all who are in Christ are equally saved by His precious blood. He obtained eternal redemption for all, and all who receive the gift of God, which is eternal life, have it without money or works of any kind on their part. Discipleship follows, and as it is so costly to the believer few are willing to pay the price; hence the whole-hearted disciples are comparatively few, and there are many degrees in discipleship and many calls to obtain the few. See Luke xiv, 26, 27, 33; Matt. x, 37, 38; xvi, 24. Having saved us fully, freely, and forever, He desires us to be ever, only, all for Himself. His own special property, that He may live his life in us and reveal Himself through us to the world (Ps. lv, 3; Tit. ii, 14, R.V.; II Thess. iv, 10, 11). The ministry of John the Baptist seems to have been very brief, and, having been imprisoned because hated by a wicked woman, he was in due time beheaded, and the Lord Jesus suffered it to be so, although He said that no greater was ever born of woman (Matt. xi, 11). We cannot understand, but we must have unbounded confidence in God.

After John was put in prison Jesus began to preach the gospel of the kingdom of God, urging men to repent and believe the gospel (verses 14, 15). Both John and Jesus and also the twelve preached that the kingdom was at hand, the kingdom plainly foretold by all the prophets, a kingdom of peace and righteousness under a righteous king, before whom all kings will fall down and whom all nations will serve. Then shall the nations learn war no more, and from a righteous Israel at the centre, with Jerusalem as the throne of the Lord, the earth will soon be filled with the glory of the Lord (Isa. xxxii, 1, 17; ii, 4; Jer. iii, 17; Ps. lxxii, 11). Truly it is worth while to follow such a leader through all trials to such a kingdom and to walk worthy of it and Him (Matt. xvi, 27; I Thess. ii, 12; I Pet. v, 10). We may so know Him as to be blind and deaf to all but His face and His voice, and thus He will make us fishers of men to complete His elect church during this age of the post-ponement of the kingdom, because they said, "We have no king but Caesar." "We will not have this man to reign over us."

In the latter part of our lesson we find Him in the synagogue in Capernaum on the Sabbath day and so teaching that all were astonished at His doctrine, for He taught with authority. The words were not His but His Father's, for He said only what the Father had told Him to say (John xii, 49; xiv, 10; xvii, 8). Power becometh unto God, and where the word of a king is there is power (Ps. lxxii, 12; Eccl. viii, 4). On the night of His arrest His two words "I am" sent the Roman soldiers to the ground, for it was the same voice which said, "Let there be light" (Gen. i, 3). A demon-possessed man was in the synagogue, and the evil spirit knew Him and called Him Jesus of Nazareth, the Holy One of God (verse 24), for the demons believe and tremble (Jas. ii, 19). It is not believing about Jesus Christ that saves, else all demons might be saved, but it is submission to Him as God and the reception of Him as the Saviour of sinners. See how the demons confess what many intelligent religious people today refuse to believe—that Jesus is God. They also believe in a place of torment into which He will cast them at the appointed time (Matt. viii, 29). This, too, is ridiculed by many, but as truly as this demon obeyed the voice of Jesus and came out of the man so will all people obey Him to whom He will say, "Depart from Me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels" (Matt. xxv, 41).

"This week the thermometer went up 30 points in one day."
"Just my luck! I didn't have a single dollar on it."

INDIANS MUST CEASE RAMBLES

Hereafter Those in Prairie Provinces Must Stay on Reserves

Medicine Hat, Alta.—All the Indians around Medicine Hat, some seventy in number, are ordered to go to the reserve this spring. This order was issued by the Government and the Inspector of Indian Agencies will be in the city in a few days notifying the Indians.

The action is taken on account of the fact that the country is now becoming thickly populated and it has been decided that the roving of the Indians on the prairie in future must end.

It is considered that the change will be greatly beneficial. The Indians live practically from hand to mouth. They deal in horses and some of them work, but on the whole it has proved a poor means of subsistence.

They own no land and camp most of the time along the river, that is, whenever they are not roving over the prairie. When the Inspector notified the Indians he told them they had the option of going to any of the Western Reserves that they wished, where a piece of land would be provided for them to work. The majority of them chose the Battleford and Piapot reserve.

The order says that the Indians shall go on the reserve as soon as spring opens. This action on the part of the government is practically the last in curtailing the wandering of Indians over the Western prairies, which wanderings have proved the theme for many author's articles. The Indians of the Prairie Provinces will now be practically on the same basis as the Indians of Ontario. They are kept on their reserves and not allowed to ramble over the country.

NEW ATLANTIC MAIL SERVICE

Negotiations by Which British Mail Will Reach Regina in 9 Days

London, Eng.—Much satisfaction is expressed over the report from Ottawa that the C.P.R., C.N.R., and possibly other Canadian steamship companies are negotiating with British interests for a four and a half days trans-Atlantic steamship service, delivering the mails in Winnipeg in eight days and Regina in nine.

The Lusitania and Mauretania will be of in calculable help in solving the Canadian trouble. Lord Strathcona is known to have expressed strong views in favor of the service here and in Ottawa and also believed a project of this character would make a special appeal to Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, with whom Lord Strathcona has been conferring recently.

OPTIMISTIC BERLIN ORGAN

Statement of Moge Cordial Relations With Great Britain Depreciated

Berlin, Germany.—Hopes for the establishment of more amicable relations between Germany and Great Britain, based on the recent visit to Berlin of Viscount Haldane, the British Secretary of War, have not been permitted to reach too great a height. The "Lokal Anzeiger" recently published a highly optimistic article concerning the new accord and, as the "Lokal Anzeiger" frequently is the mouthpiece of the Government, it was generally assumed that the article had some authoritative origin.

The German Foreign Office, however, issued a statement that the article in question had no official basis and added: "These assertions are based wholly on conjecture and are, therefore, only calculated to awaken false hopes or false fears."

Many Manufacturers to Exhibit

Winnipeg, Man.—The Winnipeg Industrial Bureau announces the opening of its new headquarters and general offices, including the home reunion and information bureau. Extensive exhibits of natural resources and manufactured products are now being installed; and the free exposition recently announced will open its doors to the public on March 1. It is stated that a few well located booths are still open for rental to large manufacturers; but reservations are being made rapidly, and booking will probably be closed within the next few days. The Bureau's new location is at South Main and Water streets.

Take Coal From This Side

London, England.—It is announced that the great coal strike involving more than a million men will almost certainly begin on March 1. The miners demand the minimum wage scale. English mine owners are willing to concede this, but the Scotch and Welsh owners refuse even to consider the matter.

The English press calls attention to the enormous coal resources of the United States, and says that though the coal is $1.25 a ton in freight rates, large amounts will be imported to Great Britain.

Lord Strathcona's Gift to Edmonton

Edmonton, Alta.—Lord Strathcona, Canadian High Commissioner in London, has advised the secretary of the Edmonton South Side Board of Trade that he will contribute $25,000 to a building fund in connection with the erection and equipment of a new City hospital on the University grounds. The High Commissioner's gift is in return for the naming of the city of Strathcona after him.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

LORD STRATHCONA

Canadian High Commissioner to London

In 1838 a young Scotch boy of eighteen, named Donald A. Smith, entered the service of the Hudson Bay Co. He had been educated for the Civil Service in India; but the sturdy life of hardship, the rigorous, close, hand-to-hand battle with fate, somehow appealed to him more than the easier and more enervating life of the Orient.

For thirteen years he labored on the hard Labrador coast, where the climate was inhuman, the monotony insurmountable, the loneliness appalling, and promotion seemed slower than the movement of a glacier. But young Smith made his record, and in this rough training-school learned self-reliance, courage, self-conquest, prudence and shrewdness among the solitudes, and a sureness of judgment. He learned to conquer obstacles and to laugh in triumph at them. In 1869 he had gradually risen to the post of resident-governor—the supreme possibility under the Hudson Bay Co.

When the Federation decided to take over the title of the company, they met an obstacle in the opposition of the Metis, the halfbreeds of the plains, who rose in rebellion under the leadership of the fanatic Louis Riel. In this extremity Donald Smith was recognized, and his courage, tact and wisdom aided in cutting the Gordian knot of disagreement. He at once became the most powerful man of the Northwest, and a year later was elected to the House of Commons. Then came the fierce battle against the corruption, bribery, and Governmental incompetency in building the great railroad connecting the oceans, and later the organizing of the company, headed by Mr. Smith (the future Lord Strathcona) and his co-sin, Lord Mount Stephen, that built the magnificent railroad on the ruins of the Government's hopeless failure. Lord Strathcona's financial ability, his organizing power, his genius to inspire others to see and to realize his visions, carried the day; and as J. J. Hill says, "the one person to whose efforts and confidence in the growth of our country, our success in early railroading is due; is Lord Strathcona."

He received his first imperial honor in 1886 and in 1897 was raised to the peerage. His manifold duties defy cataloguing; as financier, statesman, philanthropist, and in various other fields he has been pre-eminent, and like all really great men has retained his simplicity through it all. To-day, at the age of seventy-five, he is Canadian High Commissioner in London, a most exacting position, and his marvelous knowledge of Canadian affairs and his other unique qualities would make it impossible to replace him.

Supposed Letter From Christ

The following clipped from an exchange has been handed the News with a request to publish.

Country papers throughout Canada are printing what is alleged to be a letter from Christ. In this letter was an injunction that it should be published to the world; whoever found it together with the statement that misfortunes and hard luck would follow the person having possession of it in the event that it was not given publicly.

There was likewise a promise that whoever may have a copy of this in his or her possession will prosper and be followed by good fortune. This paper has received several requests to print this letter, so if it will relieve the superstitious fear of anyone, here it is:

According to the history of the letter it was written by Christ just after His crucifixion signed by the Angel Gabriel ninety nine years after the Saviour's birth and presumably deposited by him under a stone at the foot of the cross.

On this stone appeared the legend "Blessed is he who shall turn me over."

No one knew what the inscription meant or seemed to have sufficient curiosity for investigation until the stone was turned over by a little child and the letter which follows discovered:

Whosoever works on the Sabbath day shall be cursed. I command you to go to church and keep holy the Lord's day without any manner of work. You shall not be idle or mis-spent your time in bedecking yourself in any superfluities of costly apparel and vain dressing for I have ordered it a day of rest I will have that day kept holy that your sins may be forgiven you.

"You will not break my commandments but observe them and keep them they being written by my hand and spoken by my mouth. You shall not only go to church yourselves but also your man servant and your maid servant. Observe my words and learn my commandments.

"You shall finish your work every Saturday at 6 o'clock in the afternoon at which hour the preparation for the Sabbath begins. I advise you to fast five days in the year beginning on Good Friday and continuing the five days following in remembrance of the five bloody wounds I received for you and man kind.

"You shall love one another and cause them that are not baptised to come to church and receive the Holy Sacrament: that is to say, baptism. And then the supper of the Lord and be made a member

Girl Cured of Disfiguring Pimples

By Cuticura Ointment. Broke Out on Face when Twelve or Thirteen. Were Most Embarrassing. Had Tried Everything.

A Nova Scotia girl, Miss Mabel Morash, of Dover West, writes: "When I was about twelve or thirteen years of age, my face broke out with pimples, and I tried everything to get rid of them, but failed. The pimples were the worst on my forehead and chin. They came out in groups and developed later into sores. Being on my face they caused great disfigurement, and were most embarrassing."

"After trying so many remedies without success, I saw the Cuticura Ointment advertised, and I sent for a box. I then applied it to the pimples, and in a week I saw a great change in my face. I kept using it, and in a few months it rendered a complete cure. Now you cannot tell I ever had pimples, thanks to the Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Mabel Morash, Mar. 31, 1911.

Baby's Face Like Raw Beef

"My baby boy had a large pimple come on his forehead. It burst and spread all over his face which soon looked like a piece of raw beef, all smothered with bed pimples. Then I got two tins of Cuticura Ointment, together with Cuticura Soap, and in two months had quite cured him. Now of course I use Cuticura Soap for all my children. (Signed) Mrs. E. ### PROGRESS OF THE G. T. P.

Pushing the Steel Across Prairie and Mountain in True Western Fashion

A report received at the Grand Trunk Pacific headquarters regarding track laying on its new western lines shows progress as follows: Up to the present time on the main line the track is now 1,074 miles west of Winnipeg beyond the Yellowhead Pass on the western slope of the Rocky Mountains. On the Alberta coal branch which is being built from Bickerdike in to the Brazeau coal fields, the track has been pushed 21.4 miles south of the former place. On the Telford-Calgary branch steel has been laid 105.3 miles south of Telford and on the Young-Prince Albert branch it has been laid 67.3 miles north of Young. The entire branch between Melville and Regina has been completed, a mileage of 98.4 as has also the fifty-two miles between Melville & Canora. On the Regina-Moose Jaw branch the end of steel is now 1.1 miles west of Regina. Upwards of 500 miles of grading on branch lines is now completed awaiting the delivery of steel for track-laying to be resumed. On the mountain division it is now at the mouth of the tunnel, 104 miles east of Prince Rupert.

Armies of men and teams making up the construction forces are now engaged in transporting supplies along the Fraser River between Tete Juane Cache and Fort George in British Columbia and this entire section of the line covering 190 miles will be a busy scene of action until "east and west meet" on the new Transcontinental, for it will be in British Columbia that the crowning event in the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will be celebrated by the driving of the golden spike that will connect the Atlantic with the Pacific over the rails of the only Transcontinental Railway on the North American continent situated wholly within the Dominion of Canada. A fitting occasion for His Majesty the King to honor.

Among the members of a fashionable club are a doctor and a minister, who delight in the exchange of repartee touching their respective professions. "With the gravest of expressions the physician replied, 'He needs your help more than mine.'"

Off his guard the minister exclaimed, anxiously, "Poor fellow! Is it as bad as that?"

"Yes; he is suffering from insomnia."

The late James R. Three noted Irish-Canadian lawyers were present, and apparently did not see the incongruity.

Firing the Canon on Time

A Paris contemporary publishes an amusing story from Egypt. At one of the military posts it is the custom to fire a cannon at noon. Just after the arrival of a new lieutenant he was going around one day, just about noon. "How do you know the correct time for firing?" he asked the gunner. "I look at my watch, sir," was the reply. I have it regulated once a month by the watchmaker in the adjacent village, a Swiss, who has been here for some years."

A few days later the lieutenant found himself in the village about noon, and outside the watchmaker's shop. The Swiss was in the street, evidently waiting for something to turn up, so the lieutenant had a chat with him.

"I suppose," said the officer, "you have but little work here?"

"Not much," was the response. "I have more leisure than work, but this is not without advantages. You see I am now listening for the midday gun."

"The midday gun—what for?"

"I regulate all my watches and clocks by that."

THIS IS INDEED A SEVERE TEST

C. MATTESEN HAS HAD RHEUMATISM ALL HIS LIFE.

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Benefited Him so Much He Recommends Them to Others—Why They Always Cure Rheumatism.

Holberg, B. C. (Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Rheumatism has been proved again and again. Where the dread disease is making its first inroads into the system the cure is quick and complete. Where the rheumatism is of long standing it takes longer treatment, but the result is always the same, Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure. Probably the hardest test Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever been given is in the case of Mr. C. Mattesen of this place. It is best stated in his own words:—

"I have been troubled with rheumatism all my life," Mr. Mattesen states, "but I am happy to tell you that I have received so much benefit from Dodd's Kidney Pills that I can recommend them to others."

Here is a case of the longest possible standing. But Dodd's Kidney Pills will sure cure it. Why? Because uric acid in the blood is the cause of rheumatism, and Dodd's Kidney Pills take the uric acid out of the blood by making the kidneys do their proper work.

"Come now," persisted the lawyer, "are you not able to say, of your own knowledge, that the defendant was in the room at the time and objected to the whole proceeding?" "Yes, sir," savagely replied the witness. "I am able to say it, I reckon; but I'd be telling the biggest lie you ever heard of if I did."

PARALYSIS YIELDS TO DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS

MANY FORMS OF THIS DREAD DISEASE ARE CURED BY THIS REMEDY.

Mrs. Ritchie, of Galt, Ont., Says She Believes it Saved Her Life—Doctors Said She Had Not Long to Live When She Began This Treatment—Read Her Grateful Statement.

Scarcely a day passes but fresh proof is offered of the wonderful power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills over disease. In many of these cases relief and new health comes to the sufferer after the best efforts of medical men had been in vain. One such case is that of Mrs. D. M. Ritchie, of Galt, Ont., who writes:—"I feel it my duty to let other people know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I was taken sick first in May, 1910, with rheumatism. Treatment at home having failed me I went to Grace Hospital, Detroit, where I remained for some weeks, but instead of improving I became absolutely helpless, as if from paralysis, and could not move hand or foot. I was under the heavy expense of a trained nurse, and the best of medical treatment, but seemed to be growing worse. Finally about the middle of July my husband decided to bring me home to Galt, where I remained under medical treatment, and with a nurse constantly attending me until October, when I took a further turn for the worse. Then the doctor told my husband it was only a matter of a few weeks, as I could not possibly get better. Up to this time over six hundred dollars had been spent for medical and hospital treatment. In this condition, with hope abandoned, my husband saw a testimonial in a local newspaper of a cure of paralysis through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided at once to try them. In a few weeks there was a little improvement, and from that time on each day showed some change for the better. I can now (March 1911) walk all about the house, do up my room, wash the dishes and sew and mend, but am still a little shaky, but am looking for the fullest cure, as I feel myself growing stronger daily. I give the full credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I feel they are an instrument under Providence given to the benefit of suffering humanity."

Writing again under the date of August 16th, 1911, Mrs. Ritchie says: "As to my general health I can say that I have not felt so well in years. My stomach is in the best of condition and I can eat things I have not eaten for years. I can walk quite well, but use my cane when I go out, as I have not quite confidence in myself yet. But if you had seen me when I started to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, you would realize what a miracle they have worked in my case. All that I have stated is absolutely true, and I may add that the pills have cured my husband of kidney trouble that other medicines seem to have no effect upon, for which we are both thankful."

Again under the date of January 16, 1912, Mrs. Ritchie says: "I am fully recovered and able to do all my household work. I shall always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and trust some sufferer will receive as much benefit by reading this as I did through a faithful use of the pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such apparently hopeless cases as Mrs. Ritchie's because they make new, rich red blood, which feeds the starved, overworked nerves, and gives tone and strength to every organ in the body. No sufferer from paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus dance or any nervous disorders can afford to neglect Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the great blood builder and nerve tonic, which have more remarkable cures to their credit than any other medicine in the world. But be sure you get the genuine pills with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Supposed Letter From Christ

you long life and many blessings thereof and in so doing I will give Your land shall be replenished and bring forth abundance and I will comfort you in the greatest temptation, and surely he that doeth to the contrary shall be cursed.

"I will also send hardness of heart on them and especially in hardened and repentant unbelievers. He that hath given to the poor shall find it profitable. Remember to keep the Sabbath day, for the seventh day I have taken as a resting day to myself.

"And he that hath a copy of this letter written by my hand and spoken by my own mouth and keepeth it without publishing it to others shall not prosper, but he that publishes it to others shall be blessed by me, and if their sins be as many as stars by night, and if they truly believe they shall be pardoned and they that believe not this writing and my commandments will have my plagues upon you, and you will be consumed with your children, goods and cattle and all other world enjoyments that I have given you. Do but once think of what I have suffered for you: if you do, it will be well for you in this world which is to come.

"Whoever shall have a copy of this letter and keep it in their house nothing shall hurt them, neither pestilence, thunder or lightning, and if any woman be in birth and put her trust in me she shall be delivered of her child. You shall hear no more news of me except through the Holy Scriptures until the day of judgement. All goodness and prosperity shall be in the house where a copy of this letter shall be found. Finished.

The story goes on that the little child who found it passed it to one who became a convert to the Christian faith. He failed to have the letter published. He kept it however as a memento of Christ and it passed down to different generations of his family for more than one thousand years.

During this period the family suffered repeated misfortunes, migrating to different countries until one of them came to America bringing the letter with him. They settled in Ontario then moved farther west still followed by misfortune when finally the last member a daughter approached her death bed and called a neighbor, Mrs. Thompson, giving her the letter and relating its history for more than one thousand years. The Thompson woman began the attempt to have it published and it first appeared in the Selkirk Sentinel on October 31st, 1861. It then appeared in the Portal Call and Mrs. Wortman now living at Hardisty clipped it and kept in her possession for many years without an effort to have it published. She was followed by misfortunes which she attributed to her neglect in trying to have the letter published.

Mrs. Ruby Crutchfield of Cornation is also said to have a copy and failed to make an effort to have it published for three years, and was followed by a various lot of misfortunes which she attributed to the fact of her neglect in his respect.
